He Will Not Resign the Exposition Presidency.

MONEY CAN REMOVE HIM.

He Points Out to the Trades Council How It Can be Done.

SOME DENIALS OF LABOR CHARGES.

Another Refusal to Coerce His Employes to Join the Union.

STANDING ON A RECORD OF 26 YEARS.

Mr. S. S. Marvin, President of the Western Pennsylvania Exposition Society, who was asked to resign his position by the Central Trades Council, does not contemplate doing so. Mr. Marvin is sorry he cannot grant the request of the Council who asked him to step down and out on account of labor troubles in his factory, and he says the people who are trying to injure him are taking the wrong course to get him out of the Exposition. He says that the proper way to oust him is to secure enough life memberships at the rate of $100 each, and elect some other person at the annual meeting of the managers.

Mr. Marvin arrived home Thursday night after an absence of over two weeks in the East, where he went to secure a muchneeded rest after his arduous duties attend needed rest after his arduous duties attendant upon the opening of the Exposition. He was found at his residence on Amberson avenue, East End, by a DISPATCH reporter last night, and when asked if he would resign his position, he said:

"No, I do not intend to resign on the request of the Trades Council or any other organization which has a fancied grievance.

against me. I do not see why that antag-onism which some of the organized labor leaders of this city have against me, and my private business should interfere with a public enterprise like the Exposition. I do not recognize their right to ask me to resign my position, and I do not see why I

IT WILL REQUIRE BOODLE.

"If they wish to get me out, let them pro-ceed about it in a fair and legitimate man-ner. Life memberships only cost $100 each, and 1,000 of them would be enough to dis-place me. I also do not recognize that the persons who asked me to resign represented the thinking laboring classes and wage workers of the county.
"The grievance that these men have against me is all in their imagination. Because I would not compel the men working for me to join the Bakers' Assembly they ordered a strike and forced about 12 or 15 of my employes who were in the union to quit. men whom they wanted me to discharge were good workmen, and why I should make it my business to force them into the Knights of Labor is more than I can see. I asked them if they wanted to join the union and they told me no. I gave them full permission to do so, and they said they would not join the Knights of Labor under any circumstances. They told me that if it was a choice of either going into the union or be-ing discharged they would take the latter. If a man came to me and tried to force me into an organization I did not want to join I would think it was a high-handed proceeding. If I took this view of the matter in my privilege to my men? It mattered not to me whether they were in 100 labor unions or none at all so long as they did their work. When the public was asked to boycott me I determined to stand by my men, and will continue to do so until the last.

"I always treated the men in my employ with the greatest consideration. I was an employe myself once, and know what it is to work for a living. Long before there was a union of bakers in this city I shortened the hours of my men. I was the first baker in Allegheny county to make 10 hours a day's work, when other factories were running 14 and 15 hours. This was over 20 years ago, and I have been running my fac-tory that way ever since. Our men were satisfied with their treatment until the strike was ordered last spring.

HIS DENIAL EMPHATIC. "In regard to the statement that we vio-

In regard to the statement that we vio-lated the agreement to employ only organized labor, I say it is false. We kept the agree-ment to the very letter, but organized labor did not do the same. The Great Western Band convinced us that they were union men, and had they not done so, we would not have hired them. I have been in this community for the past 26 years, and I defy any one to show wherein I did not keep an agreement. On the contrary, I can show where labor has violated agreements with me. When I signed the bakers' scale last spring, it was to run for one year. We did not run 30 days until they came at me with an agreement that was not on the scale. This was to discharge the men who had refused to join the union, and I did not sign the supple mentary document. They then broke their obligation by ordering the strike. When I signed the scale we had a distinct understanding that the non-union men in my employ were to remain there, but I was not to hire outsiders who were not in the union. It is foolish to talk about violating an agree-

"The men who ordered that strike were foolish. They were building up a magnifi-cent organization, and in two or three years more they might have had nearly every baker in the two cities in it. Now, I do not know of one cracker factory in Pitts-burg or Allegheny which is, strictly speak-ing, union. They should have been content to let well enough alone instead of pre-cipitating matters in a blind manner. "I am satisfied to let organized labor run my business provided they pay me for it. I am willing to sell out at any time if they will buy. As long as I furnish the capital and hage to stand all the losses, I shall certainly insist upon running it to suit myself.

BIG IMPROVEMENTS MADE.

"I have just expended over $100,000 in improvements at my factory, and labor was directly benefited. The Exposition Society spent nearly half a million dollars, which went into the pockets of wage workers, yet organized labor is not satisfied. I really do not know what they want. I wish it stated once for all that I will never force my men into any organization they do not wish to join. "In our factory the men have a mutual benefit association. About three-fourths of them are in it. They are banded together for their own protection in sickness, and I think this is the best kind of a labor organization. They do not pay money into the treasury to be spent for salaries of master workmen, hire of halls, walking delegates and other expenses peculiar to the present organized system of labor. What they pay into the organization benefits them when they become sick or disabled.

"I have also heard the rumored talk of a boycott against the Exposition. Such action I think would be folly. The Exposition was organized to give a technical education to young men of Pittsburg, who could not otherwise get it. In ten years we will have a polytechnic school of some kind established, and if the wage workers of the county want to tear down what we are building up that is their business. We will certainly not lose anything by it."

WIDENER AND ELKINS HERE. The Citizens' Traction Company Will Prob

ably Reduce Their Fares-The Magnates After the Central. Mr. James Verner, a prominent member of the Board of Directors of the Citizens' Traction Company, was seen last night by a DISPATCH reporter with reference to the rumored reduction to 5 cents of the car fare to East Liberty. He said:

"No formal consideration has as yet been given the question by the board, and no action can be taken on it until Mr. C. L. Magee and other members return to Pittsburg. I may tell you, however, that the matter has been extensively spoken of in the board, and the opinions of all the members at present in the city seem to be favorable to the idea of reducing the fares. I am almost sure that the motion for reduction will pass. I, for one, am thoroughly in favor of it. The matter will be brought forward in about a month, and I think that it cannot be considered sooner. The statement in one of yesterday's evening papers to the effect that a meeting had been held and the motion defented is incorrect."

P.A. B. Widener and W. L. Elkins, principal owners of the Pittsburg Traction road, arrived in the city last evening. They stated that their visit had no connection whatever with the statement that they were trying to secure control of the Central Traction Company and extend its lines to East Liberty. This would be much shorter than via Fifth or Penn avenues, and it was stated that the fare would be made 5 cents.

The gentlemen denied this, and said they were not trying to buy the other line. They now sell 50-trip tickets for $3 50, or at the rate of 7 cents per trip. This is about as cheap as a passenger can be carried over a traction line five miles.

A CONDUCTOR'S CONDUCT.

The Right to Stand on Street Car Platforms Will be Tested Again.

I. N. Mead, conductor on the Citizen's Traction road, had a partial hearing yesterday before Alderman Porter, on a charge of assault and battery preferred by William Major, of Frankstown avenue, East End. It appears that the conductor objected to Mr. Major standing on the rear platform of his car, in the face of a recent decision of the local courts to the effect that a street car enger could stand where he pleased, if passenger could stand where he pleased, it be did not obstruct the passage. Mr. Major refused to leave the platform, whereupon the conductor told him he must either quit his position or the car. He chose the latter alternative, and as he was getting back his money he says that the conductor hit him in the face, knocked him down and kicked him savagely. This morn-ing Major appeared with a much swollen countenance, and two gentlemen and a lady, who had been in the car at the time, volunteered evidence corroborative of the en-gineer's statement. 'Squire Porter post-poned the case for further investigation at the request of the Traction company.

He said that more importance was attached, in the North, to the race war in his section than the North, to the race war in his section than the matter deserved. Men of rough character who in the North would be treated to a few years' imprisonment and no unusual prominence bestowed on them, would in the South be shot down on sight, because of the hold they would assume over the colored people of whom they made perfect fanatics. At the next election for Governor of the State, Mr. Shunk, who had previously attained a rare degree of popularity, was a candidate for reelection; but the Whigs of that day got up the story that the Governor as part of the ceremony of the day, had "trampled upon the American flag," and the result was his inglorious defeat.

WEST PENN SHOWING.

During the Year 1853 Patients Were Treated at the Hospital.

THE INSTITUTION OVERCROWDED. Number of Typhoid Fever Cases Much in

ADDITIONAL BUILDINGS TO BE PUT UP

Excess of Other Years.

Superintendent Cowen, of the West Penn Hospital, completed his annual report yesterday. At the close of the last fiscal year there were 166 patients in the hospital. From that date there have been admitted up to September 30, 1889, 1,687 patients, making the total number of cases treated 1,853. The largest number under treatment at one time was 233, the smallest number 164.

The number of typhoid fever patients was 250. There were 41 patients received into the hospital during the Johnstown flood. None of these cases were fatal, and all were sent back to the ill-fated city. The aver-age number of old soldiers that lived in the hospital last year was 25 per day. Out of this number 10 died. The hospital is paid to keep up the old soldiers dormitory.

IN GOOD STANDING. The financial statement shows up well. The total cost to maintain the institution was $67,038 14, an average of 99 cents for each patient, including medical treatment, clothes, wages and other things necessary to run the place. The average cost of food per day for the inmates was 30 cents.

Superintendent Cowen yesterday made the following statement:

"The work accomplished in the last year by the hospital was varied and extensive. We have been fearfully nampered by our limited space. We only have accommodations for 170 patients, yet we have accommoda-tions for 170 patients, yet we have had 233 medical inmates in the house at one time; 63 more than our capacity. This state of things militates against the health of patients and the proper working of the insti-tution. In the typhoid fever ward we were obliged to place 20 cots.

This overcrowded the ward very much.

We had to use the utmost caution to prevent a spread of the disease. This year we have had an excess over other years in typhoid fever cases. Our results in the treatment have been eminently satisfactory.

MORE BUILDINGS NEEDED. In consequence of the overcrowded condition of the hospital it will be necessary to put up some additional buildings, so as to accommodate the large influx of patients. We are erecting a two-story ward in the rear of the east end of the main building. This will enable us to take 30 more patients. But this is only preparatory to further en-largements. Early next season we will spend considerable in making the front of the building more beautiful.

In spite of our limited room and the large increase of our population, the deaths have been proportionately less than in any other year. The private wards have been well patronized this year. People are be-ginning to recognize that this place is a hotel for invalids, and not a poor house, that some people five years ago flippantly called These private rooms have been occupied by lawyers, merchants and other pro-

The High School Committee of the Central Board of Education held its regular monthly meeting last night. The bills for September were approved. The report for the month showed the total number of pupils enrolled to have been 724, of which 287 were males and 435 females. The per-centage of attendance for the males was 96 per cent. and for the females 97 per cent. Principal Wood asked for an additional preceptress in the Academical department until the 1st of February owing to the in-creased number of D pupils. At that time a new schedule for the year will be made out, and Principal Wood, judging from former years, thought that the D pupils would be then so reduced as not to need an additional assistant. He estimated that 20 D pupils would quit during the first half of the year.

The request was granted, but the election was deferred until the next meeting.

At a meeting of the Evening School Committee last night it was decided to hold a night school session of 40 nights, com-mencing November 4, and to slightly reduce the average number of pupils required for Three Members of a Southside Dramatic Club Receive Notices.

ACCUSED WITH INCENDIARISM.

Result of the Attempt to Burn the Allentown Turner Hall.

THE LETTER WRITER IS SUSPECTED

The White Caps have again begun to circulate their awful warnings. Last evening one of these precious epistles was sent to THE DISPATCH office, and three to the George A. Smith Dramatic Company. The purport of the missives was to warn certain members of the dramatic company that if they did not forthwith admit their implica-tion in the incenduarism at Turner Hall, Allentown, their lives would pay the for-feit. Joseph Haas, a member of the com-pany, received the following letter:

Mr. Joseph Hass—

SIR—You had better go and make a public confession and state that you were one of the parties concerned in the incendiary and dynamiting affairs of the Allentown Turner Hall. If you do not at once do this, your life shall be the forfeit. WHITE CAPS, Junior Order, Southside Division. Southside Division.
Received Monday. September 30, 1889, night.
Mr. Haas stated last night that he could not understand the motive that the White

Caps had in sending him such a message.
The only reason he could assign was that someone was jealous of the success of their company. He said he was in no way implicated in the firing of the hall. The first time he had ever heard of the fire was through the columns of the papers.

George A. Smith, the manager of the company, and a friend whose name he would not divuige, also received similar communi-cations. He also stated that they had an idea who sent the letters, but he thought it would be safer to keep it a secret until they were in a condilion to reveal it.

The handwriting in all the letters was the same, and the postmark indicated Pittsburg as the place from which they were sent.
